Pro-Chancellor's Message

Dear Education Aspirants,

Education, only in part, is a matter of curriculum and classroom learning. It can be considered to complete only with holistic development of an individual. The purpose of education is to build a better tomorrow for yourself, your family, the society, the nation and ultimately for the whole world. This never-ending adventure of exploring, learning and creating is, in fact, the greatest journey of humankind and the most significant part of it happens at a university campus. In many cases, it defines you for the rest of your life.

That is why, at LPU, it is more than education that has been planned for each student. It is what I like to call Educare - to nurture and groom individuals to thrive in the competitive knowledge economy of the day, while being grounded. It has been our sincere endeavour to inculcate a strong sense of ethics and values, such as integrity and social responsibility, among successive batches of our students. The feedback from the industry and the progress of LPU alumni indicate that we have achieved this goal to the level of satisfaction of all stakeholders.

You are the future of the nation and the world. Hand in hand with you, the parents and other stakeholders, we shall try to carve out a brilliant future for each one of you as per your aspirations. This opportunity to impact the lives of so many students fills me with hope and excitement.

I hope you will cherish your stay with us.
