Working with Text

1. (i) Did the prospect of meeting Stephen Hawking make the writer nervous? If so, why?

(ii) Did he at the same time feel very excited? If so, why?

Answer

(i) Yes, the prospect of meeting Stephen Hawking made the writer nervous because Stephen Hawking was the ablest scientist on the earth. He was the worthy author of world renowned book "A brief History of Time". He had become the successor to Issac Newton at the University of Cambridge. Meeting with such a great personality made the writer nervous.

(ii) Yes, he felt excited at the same time because it made him stronger to see somebody like him achieving something huge. This made him aware of the many possibilities present before him, thereby helping him to reach out further than he ever thought he could.

2. Guess the first question put to the scientist by the writer.

Answer

The writer might have asked the scientist if he had been brave to reach where he had.

3. Stephen Hawking said, "I've had no choice." Does the writer think there was a choice? What was it?

Answer

The writer thought that there was a choice. Stephen Hawking could have chosen to leave everything, and be sad and depressed. He could have sulked. However, he chose to live creatively knowing the reality of his disintegrating body.

4. "I could feel his anguish." What could be the anguish?

Answer

<https://www.indcareer.com/schools/ncert-solutions-for-8th-class-english-chapter-7-a-visit-to-cambridge/>

Stephen Hawking's mind was active with many thoughts that he wanted to express. However, his thoughts came out in phrases, without reflecting his feelings or emotions. His sentences were mere lines, without any sentiment. The writer felt he could understand his anguish and frustration at that.

5. What endeared the scientist to the writer so that he said he was looking at one of the most beautiful men in the world?

Answer

The writer asked Stephen Hawking if he found it annoying that someone like him came and disturbed him in his work. To this query, the scientist replied in the affirmative, frankly and honestly. Then, he smiled his one way smile and this was what endeared him to the writer. The writer felt that he was looking at one of the most beautiful men in the world.

6. Read aloud the description of 'the beautiful' man. Which is the most beautiful sentence in the description?

Answer

The sentence describing the inner glow of Hawking's personality which makes his physical looks irrelevant is probably one of the most beautiful descriptions of beauty.

(iii) The writer draws a general conclusion that inside our body is the eternal soul. Everything else is an accessory.

8. What is the scientist's message for the disabled?

Answer

The scientist Stephen Hawking's message for the disabled is that they should concentrate on what they are good at. They should make the best use of them and thank God.

9. Why does the writer refer to the guitar incident? Which idea does it support?

Answer

When Stephen Hawking said that things such as disabled Olympics were a waste of time, the writer agreed with him. He remembered the years which he spent trying to play a Spanish guitar that was considerably larger than he was. He was very happy when he unstrung it one night. It supports Stephen Hawking's idea that the disabled should only concentrate on what they are good at, and not take up things unnecessarily.

10. The writer expresses his great gratitude to Stephen Hawking. What is the gratitude for?

Answer

The writer expressed his gratitude to Stephen Hawking because he had been an inspiration for him. He saw Stephen as the embodiment of his bravest self. He felt that if he had been as brave as Stephen, he would have achieved a lot. He felt he was moving towards that embodiment that he had believed in for many years. That is why he expressed his greatest gratitude to him as he had made him realise what great heights he could reach.
